The Prince of the House of David or Three Years in the Holy City J. H. Ingraham, Eric Anderson
Him who spake as never man spake. In the letters written by A dina, a lewish maiden, sojourning in jerusalem in the days of King Herod, the wondrous events of the three years during which the SAVIOUR of mankind taught in the cities of Judea are portrayed as they may have appeared to one who, living in the midst of these great things, relates them in the confidential inter course of a child with an absent father; adding to the report of each new wonder the reflections such marvellous incidents have excited in an ingenuous and thoughtful mind.
